

Tiny Stone underneath the water -
If I'm honest I think I blame you a little

Small rock on the shore -
I couldn't help it

Tiny Stone underneath the water -
You could

Small rock on the shore -
I could? How

Tiny Stone underneath the water -
Thought, words, actions...a combination of the three perhaps

Small rock on the shore -
Clever, yes I see you are a little angry with me, as if it was my fault or something, but...

Tiny Stone underneath the water -
But you should have looked after me

Small rock on the shore -
I don't know about the word 'should', I found it difficult too you know...

Tiny Stone underneath the water -
Hold it there...For some reason I don't really believe you right now, right now, what you just said, the way you said it, your words, their timing, your gesture. I mean, they are still floating in the air space where you just left them, they haven't made contact with their meaning...fake words. This is the whole thing..

Small rock on the shore -
What are you talking about?

Tiny Stone underneath the water -
Just that I don't believe you, what you said...I don't think you believe you either if you think about it...what you just said, it isn't true.. it's not...and it's how you don't give words there full meaning, that you, you pull them back so they remain in that territory, the territory of being suggestive - they don't mean what they should. And it is here, it is in this place that you live. This is why we could never really get on you and I. This is my problem with you. You are fake. You are an illusion, a suggestion of something...but to be honest even that description is generous. Because a suggestion means that there is something, the something that is suggested, you can't suggest a suggestion. But that is what you are, if such thing can exist. Well, it can, wow, yes, you exist, even against logic, you manage to exist. Amazing...unbelievable

Small rock on the shore -

Yes....amazing...ok, all right you've made your point, I heard you, and it's a shame because I like you, I thought we got on but I was mistaken I guess, and now I feel a little stupid

Tiny Stone underneath the water -

Well, come on, look I stand by what I said but I don't dislike you, we cant be friends, but I don't dislike you. You just need to be less suggestive and more meaningful

Small rock on the shore -

I'll bare it in mind...

Tiny Stone underneath the water -

You should...